Black Legion's Jungle Hunter Bush Machete builds on a classic, tried-and-true form that's proven versatile and reliable for centuries. Its impressive blade is robust enough to chop firewood, yet lithe enough for delicate backyard pruning. The bitter serrated spine makes quick work of especially dense hardwood and other challenging materials, while the handy cord notch cleaves rope in the blink of an eye. Engineered for harsh conditions and tough environments, the Jungle Hunter's impeccable weight distribution and tough rubberized polymer handle provide maximum control and a superb feel in even the soggiest wetlands, the craggiest mountain terrain and - as its name suggests - the thickest, most harrowing jungles. No matter where you take it, however, the Jungle Hunter is easy to transport, thanks to the included heavy duty zippered nylon belt sheath. And, trust us, you'll want to take it everywhere and brandish it every chance you get!
